Preface

I have been studying and practising astrology for the last three decades. I was trained directly by Late Daivagna Ratna and Vidya Visaradha Sri Divakaruni Venkata Subbarao and by my beloved father Late Sri Pemmaraju Venkata Rao. I have also been trained rather indirectly by Sri B.V. Raman, the famous Indian Astrologer, by studying all his astrological books and magazines. My non-professional and research oriented scientific bent of mind has prompted me to present a new book on Astrology giving a methodology for the Benefic and Malefic percentage analysis of planets, influencing a horoscope and thereby proceeding further to analyse the benefic and malefic percentage of bhavas and planetary periods resulting in suitable predictions.

After studying various texts of astrology and based on my experience, I have picked up and chosen what I have considered best for presenting this new approach of analysis of benefic and malefic tendencies of planets and bhavas. I have enumerated the predictions of various ascendants and various planets in different rasis, bhavas and their lordship results in different bhavas, in a novel way under different topics of body, health, temperament and personality, courage, education, houses and landed property, happiness, children, diseases, enemies, debts, marriage and marital relationship, longevity, prosperity, profession, gains and income, losses and expenditure giving the benefic and malefic results separately, since many people are interested to know their future in these topics generally and it will be easy to refer to the particular topic as per their interest. Of course, these predictions will be available in many standard text books on astrology, though I have added some from my experience, but the predictions are not available under different topics in any astrological text book for easy reference as I have presented. I have also preferred to give a Model Horoscope presenting my approach.

I hope that this book will make a useful addition to the existing literature on predictive astrology. I find now a days that a lot of literate and scientific community are taking a good deal of interest in studying astrology. As such I look forward to the prospect of this book being received with interest and approbation by the students as well as scholars in the subject, particularly the scientific astrologers.

I will be thankful if any suggestions for improvement and any mistakes detected during the course of study are communicated to me so that they may be incorporated in my future endeavours.

I take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to my blessed son, Sri P.V. Kamesh, in computerising this scheme of analysis and predictions and my many friends for their valuable suggestions. My special thanks are to my wife, P. Bharati, for assistance in preparing the data with her astrological knowledge and to Sri Nair for typing the manuscript.

I am greatly indebted to Dr. A.N. Kapoor for patiently going through the entire book and improve its presentation.

My thanks are to my close friend, Dr. Y.V.S.R. Sastry, Prof. of Mech. Engg., Delhi College of Engg., Delhi, who had helped in liaisoning with the publishers. My thanks are also to Sri N.P. Jain of Messrs. Motilal Banarsidass Publishers for taking personal interest in publishing the book. Lastly my sincere prayers are to Sri Shirdi Saibaba for his constant guidance in the form of visions in my astrological research pursuits and to our family Dieties Lord Venkateswara and Alivelu Manga.

Abstract

Planets are positioned in different Rasis (signs) and Bhavas (houses) with respect to a particular ascendant at the particular time of birth. Accordingly, each planet is subjected to many influences as per its placement in a particular rasi and bhava with respect to the placement of other planets. As such, the benefic and malefic tendencies of each planet differ in each horoscope. For example, the benefic or malefic tendency of a planet may differ as per its placement in exaltation/debilitation rasi, own rasi/star, friendly/enemy rasi/star, different bhavas as per its own lordship and as per its associations and aspects by other friendly/enemy planets etc. Each of these placements, aspects, associations are not of equal importance and they are to be considered giving different weightages for each type of influence. Similarly each bhava is also subjected to influence of different planets.

In this book, a methodology is given to evolve the benefic and malefic percentage of a planet and bhavas in a horoscope considering all the influences that they would be subjected to along with suitable weightages for each type of influence. The predictions of all planets as per their benefic or malefic tendencies with respect to their placement in different rasis and bhavas are enumerated separately under different topics of body, health, temperament and personality, wealth, courage, education, houses and landed property, happiness, children, diseases, enemies, debts, marriage and marital relationship, longevity, prosperity, profession, gains and income, losses and expenditure. Once each planet and bhava are analysed for its benefic and malefic percentage for a particular horoscope, the predictions on all important aspects of life can be given as per the concerned ruling main, sub and interperiod planets.

The tables of the periods of the ruling main, sub and interperiod planets from the time of birth are calculated as per the Vimsottari Dasa system of Hindu astrology.

The complete scheme of analysing the planets and bhavas for a particular horoscope along with broad life predictions for each bhava and yearly predictions for the current ruling main, sub and interperiod planets, is computerised.

A model horoscope in this respect is also given for ready interpretation of this new methodology.

CHAPTER I

Introduction

Astrology is a science as well as an art. It is true that the astrological predictions simply cannot be based upon strict mathematical calculations and analysis, but a certain amount of intuitive capacity must be brought to bear upon such attempts. Nevertheless, this science has been most wonderfully cultivated by many of the astrologers for a long time, resulting in many calculations for Varga charts, Shadbala strengths of planets, Astakavarga predictions etc. Simultaneously, many predictions have also been enumerated simply on the basis of Rasi chart and sometimes coupled with Navamsa chart. It was felt that neither the predictions based on the elaborate calculations nor based on the cursory look at the Rasi chart, resulted in any real fruitful predictions. It has also been felt that it would not be really easy using the various calculations and rules of all Varga charts, Shadbala strengths of planets, inter-dependence of planets etc., in interpreting the predictions.

In view of the above, a via-media solution was found for ease of predictions by mathematically analysing the percentage benefic and malefic tendencies of each planet in a horoscope considering the various influences it was subjected to, giving suitable weightages for each type of influence. The Rasi, Navamsa and Bhava charts are taken for this purpose of calculations, though the inclusion of other Varga charts may give better planetary analysis. Once the planets are analysed for their percentage benefic and malefic nature, the twelve bhavas can also be analysed for their percentage benefic and malefic tendencies with respect to the different planets influencing the bhavas. Subsequently, the benefic or malefic predictions of the ruling main planets, sub-planets and inter-planets under the circumstances can be given on the basis of their position in Rasi, Bhava and Lordship as per the standard norms laid down and the results are to be attributed to one's own social, environmental, economic/cultural circumstances. Of course, the transit results of the planets (Gochara) may be subsequently coupled as given in any standard text book on astrology.

The calculations for preparing the Rasi, Navamsa and Bhava charts and Vimsottari Dasas of planets are not dealt with, since these are given in all standard astrological books. Bhava chart is to be prepared as per the procedure given by Sri Satyacharya in ancient texts on astrology.

SOME FUNDAMENTALS

The fundamentals used in the analysis of planets and bhavas are given below for ready reference:

Planetary Ownerships, Stars, Exaltation and Debilitation Signs

Planet	Own house	Stars	Exaltation sign	Debilitation sign
Sun	Leo	Krittika Uttara Uttarashadha	Aries	Libra

Permanent Planetary Relationships

The natural or permanent relationships of planets towards each other is given below:

Planet	Friend	Neutral	Enemy
Sun	Moon, Mars, Jupiter	Mercury	Saturn, Venus, Ketu, Rahu
Mars	Sun, Moon, Jupiter	Venus, Saturn, Ketu, Rahu	Mercury
Mercury	Sun, Venus, Ketu, Rahu	Mars, Jupiter, Saturn	Moon

Planet	Friend	Neutral	Enemy

Rahu	Venus, Saturn, Mercury, Rahu	Mars, Jupiter	Sun, Moon
Ketu	Venus, Saturn, Ketu, Rahu	Mars, Jupiter	Sun, Moon
Moon	Sun, Mercury	Mars, Jupiter, Venus, Saturn	Rahu, Ketu

Temporary Planetary Relationships

Planets are said to become friends and enemies temporarily due to their position from each other in the horoscope. Planets which occupy the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 10th, 11th, and 12th places from one to the other become friends. Planets in other places from one to another are temporary enemies.

Functional Planetary Relationships

The combined influence of permanent and temporary relationships will determine the functional relationship of planets as follows:

Permanent Friend	+ Temporary Friend	= Best Friend
Permanent Friend	+ Temporary Enemy	= Neutral
Neutral	+ Temporary Enemy	= Enemy
Neutral	+ Temporary Friend	= Friend
Permanent Enemy	+ Temporary Friend	= Neutral
Permanent Enemy	+ Temporary Enemy	= Bitter Enemy

Natural Benefic Planets

Jupiter, Venus, Waxing Moon (from 8th tithi of Shukla Paksha i.e. bright half of lunar month upto 8th tithi of dark half), Mercury alone or when associated with natural benefic planets.

Note: 8th tithi in bright half = longitude of Sun - longitude of Moon is between 84 to 96 degrees (increasing distance).

8th tithi in dark half = decreasing distance between Sun and Moon after Moon reaches 180 degrees from Sun i.e. 96 to 84 degrees.

Natural Malefic Planets

Mars

Saturn, Sun, Waning Moon (from 8th tithi of dark half to 8th tithi of bright half), Mercury when associated with natural malefic planets, Rahu and Ketu.

Pisces	Waxing & Waning Moon, Mars, Jupiter, Mercury alone or with natural malefic, Rahu, Ketu	Sun, Jupiter, Saturn, Mercury alone or with natural benefic, Venus

Note: Some of the planets are both lordship benefic and malefic since one lordship is for a benefic house and the other is for malefic house such as Jupiter for Leo Ascendant is benefic lord for 5th house and malefic lord for 8th house.

CHAPTER III

Benefic and Malefic Analysis of Bhavas

There are twelve bhavas representing various aspects of life. Each bhava is subjected to the influence of different planets. The benefic and malefic percentages of planets are already calculated as given in Chapter II.

The planets influencing the bhavas along with the weightages are as follows:

Planets in the bhava (1)

Lord of the bhava (1)

Planets aspecting the bhava (1/2)

Cusp star lord of the bhava (1/2)

Planets associated with the bhava lord (1/2)

Planets aspecting the bhava lord (1/3)

Karakas of the bhava (1/2).

The net weightages and the final benefic and malefic percentages for each bhava are calculated. The Bhava chart is considered for these purposes.

For example, if two planets aspect the bhava having benefic 4 points and malefic 2 points, the weightage for the condition of "Planets aspecting the bhava" would be benefic 2 points and malefic 1 point because only a weightage of 1/2 is to be taken. Similarly, the weightages for other conditions are found and the net weightages and percentage benefic and malefic are calculated for each bhava.

Knowing the planets which influence each bhava, a list of planets signifying different bhavas can be made.

CHAPTER IV

Broad Life Predictions

Broad life predictions, which may, broadly cover the general pattern on different aspects of life, can be given based on the benefic and malefic analysis of different bhavas. If the benefic percentage of a bhava is 50% or more, it can be taken that the results of that bhava would give benefic results. If the malefic percentage of bhava is 55% or more, results of that particular bhava would be malefic in general. If the malefic percentage of a bhava is between 50% and 55%, the results of that bhava would be moderate. It should be appreciated that even if the benefic percentage of a particular bhava is 70% or so, the effects of that bhava would result in a benefic way only upto 70% (i.e. 70 out of 100 points) and still 30% of malefic results may occur. Similarly, if the malefic percentage of a bhava is 70%, it does not mean that the aspects of that bhava would be totally malefic or bad in life; still 30% benefic results may happen.

For example, if the percentage of the tenth bhava is 70% benefic, it can be taken that the conditions of Profession, Respect etc. pertaining to the significations of the tenth bhava would be definitely very good in life in general. Similarly, if the seventh bhava percentage is 70% malefic, it can be considered that in general the aspects relating to marriage, marital relationship and partnership in life would not go very smooth. Similarly, all other aspects of life are to be understood.

The general characteristics of each Ascendant with respect to the aspects of body, health and temperament and personality and the benefic, malefic and moderate predictions of each bhava are given.

The study of the Model Horoscope given in Chapter VI will throw more light in understanding while giving broad life predictions.

CHAPTER V

Yearly Predictions

As per the degrees of the positioning of Moon in a particular Rasi Chart at the time of birth, the balance of period of the particular planet ruling at the time of birth can be calculated. As per the Vimsottari Dasa System, the subsequent ruling periods of main planets, periods of sub-planets in the periods of main planets and the inter-periods in the periods of sub-planets can be calculated for the cycle of 120 years.

The significant planets for different bhavas are known from Chapter III and since each bhava represents certain main aspects of life such as body, health, wealth, houses, children, diseases, marriage, prosperity, profession, gains etc., the planets signifying the main aspects of life can be found. Accordingly, the results of the ruling planets can be enumerated on different aspects of life in relation to their positioning in a particular Rasi, Bhava and Lordship of Bhavas.

If the ruling main planet is 50% or more benefic, the benefic results of the planet as per the circumstances of its situation in a horoscope can be taken in general. However, it should be remembered that the extent of the benefic or malefic results would be limited only to the extent of the percentage of benefic or malefic given.

During the sub-period of a planet in the main period of another planet, the net percentage of the sub-period is considered taking the average of the benefic and malefic percentages of the main and sub-period planets. The original benefic and malefic percentage of the sub-period planet should not be taken, since the sub-period planet would be under the influence of the main period planet. Similarly, the inter-period benefic and malefic percentage is worked out taking the average of the benefic and malefic percentages of the main period planet, sub-period planet and the inter-period planet.

The results of the sub-period planets and the inter-period planets are given similar to the results of the main period planets as per their significations of different life aspects.

The predictions can be based broadly only on what all the planets can give under the circumstances in which they are situated in a horoscope depending on the extent of their percentage benefic and malefic influences. The predictions should be picked up judiciously, diligently, cautiously and intelligently pertaining to one's own social, environmental, economical and cultural circumstances.

The different types of predictions, given by all planets, based on their different situations are enumerated under the benefic and malefic categories separately so that the predictions can be picked up easily depending on the benefic or malefic nature of the planets. The Model Horoscope given in Chapter VI would give an indication of the type of predictions.

INTRODUCTION

We, at Bharathi Jyothishi Centre (C/o P. Bharati Rayudu, 67 Vinayanagar, Saidabad, Hyderabad-500659, India. Phone: 527354), have studied the various computer software packages available on Hindu astrology in India and formulated our own software package based on south Indian style of Hindu astrology with our past non-professional, service oriented research experience of about twenty-five years. The software utilises the Raman's 110-years ephemeris along with the Lahiri's Ayanamsa for calculation part. It works out the Rasi chart, Navamsa chart, Bhava chart, Vimsottari dasa tables of main, sub- and inter-periods of the planets, general life readings and yearly predictions.

Compared to the other softwares available, the uniqueness of our software is that it distinguishes mathematically each planet as benefic or malefic towards the horoscope in study with analysis checking the various aspects of astrological principles as normally done by any serious astrologer and then proceeds to apply these benefic or malefic tendencies while giving the predictions.

In the general reading of the horoscope the significations of all the twelve bhavas covering all the important aspects of life are given. In the yearly predictions all the different results of the main period, sub-period and inter-period of planets are given.

The aspects covered in the predictions are body, health, temperament, personality, wealth, courage, education, houses, landed, property, conveyance, happiness, children, diseases, enemies, debts, marriage, marital relationship, longevity, prosperity, profession, gains, income, losses and expenditure.

The results attributable to your social, economical, circumstantial and environmental factors are only to be taken.

It may be appreciated that the results based on the basic horoscope of Rasi chart and Navamsa chart and the detailed horoscope covering many other varga charts may differ since more conditions will be considered in the detailed horoscope.

It may also be appreciated that the horoscope available with you may differ from our casting due to the differences in Ayanamsa and Ephemeris. Also the periods of the planets, that is, the timing of the events may vary upto six months to one year sometimes. It may also to be noted that the transit results of the planets are not given which may influence the predictions to some extent. The accuracy of the calculations and predictions depends upon the accuracy of the birth time, which is not always available with high degree of accuracy. Also astrological predictions cannot be simply based upon strict hypothetical principles or vague guesses but a certain amount of intuitive capacity must be brought to bear upon such attempts.

The various rules given for future predictions are merely intended for your guidance. As such, this centre does not guarantee the certainty of the results nor own any responsibility for your decisions based upon the indications and any claim or cause of action for any damages or otherwise against this centre shall not be entertained.

Important

The planets during their main periods, sub-periods and inter-periods give benefic or malefic results pertaining to the affairs they rule depending on the extent of their benefic or malefic nature towards your horoscope. If the planets are towards the benefic nature, the maximum good results come to pass and the evil results are not felt or are at their minimum. Conversely, if the overall malefic influence of the planets is more, the good effects are felt at their minimum and unfavourable ones are at their maximum. Thus both the benefic and malefic results are felt but only the extent of the effect will vary depending on the percentages of the benefic and malefic tendencies of the planets.

It is also to be noted that in the main period of a benefic planet, sub-period of a benefic planet, inter-period of a benefic planet you will get excellent results. Similarly in the main period of a malefic planet, subperiod of a malefic planet, interperiod of a malefic planet you will experience intense malefic results. The results vary as per the extent of the nature of benefic and malefic tendencies of the planets of the main period, sub-period and inter-period.

When the period is more than 55% malefic only, the malefic results have been given. However, you are cautioned to note that when malefic results are given, some benefic results may also occur. Similarly, when malefic results are given, some benefic results may also occur.

Almost all the possible results that a planet may give under the circumstances have been given and some of them may not suit you. You are therefore advised to pick and choose the results depending on your social, economical, circumstantial and environmental factors.
